

Distinctive Buildings

This list is not the result of a systematic survey, but includes buildings identified as "worth conserving" on the Conservation Area maps produced by the District Council, together with others in the parish known to be of local interest. They include examples of Victorian public buildings such as schools, chapels and railway stations; farm buildings, estate cottages and other vernacular buildings.

The social and/or economic history of these buildings and others yet to be identified is an area requiring further investigation and the following list may easily be extended.
